The Regis Group, Inc. Enters 25th Year of Practice with Community Support Programs

Leesburg, Virginia

Marc Chinoy, President of The Regis Group, Inc. (TRG), announced today the start of a series of pro bono programs marking the 25th anniversary of the founding of the group.

“We are delighted to have arrived at this milestone,” said Chinoy, founder of The Regis Group, Inc. (TRG) “Over the course of the past twenty five years we have served the planning needs of a wide range of clients locally, nationally, and internationally.”

“While it has been most gratifying to have assisted broad-scale telephone, healthcare and legal interests, ranging from the Bell Telephone Companies to the World Health Organization, it is a privilege to have helped advance the development of contributors to our local community,” Chinoy stated.

Kicking off the celebratory year, TRG has been holding a series of pro-bono workshops focused on The Fundamentals of Group Facilitation.

“Our leadership training session is designed to provide key skills and insights needed to lead a group through the decision process,” said Robert Pizzimenti, Senior Associate with The Regis Group and former COO of SatCom International in London. “Our workshops are fully interactive. The most recent, held at TRG’s headquarters, advanced the skills of the local Salvation Army leadership as part of the group.”

Recognized as a world class business advisor, Marc Chinoy has worked with clients ranging from the Regional Bell Operating Companies to FICPI, the international association of leading patent attorneys, for whom he recently spoke in Sorrento, Italy on the topic of The Future of the Internet. He has also provided professional services to the European Union (EU) in their movement toward a common patent system.

“We are particularly interested in helping the leaders of local enterprises assess their capabilities and plan for growth,” Chinoy explained.

The Regis Group, Inc. based in Leesburg, VA, has specialized in Strategic Planning Facilitation, Decision Support, and the development of Policies and Procedures for a wide array of clients. Providing planning assistance to emerging enterprises based in Northern Virginia, has been a top priority of the group.
